"YOU CAN NEVER NOT LEAD!"

Bad English? Maybe, but as leaders in your organization, your managers and supervisors are leading every minute of every day. Are they getting the maximum results from their employees? Are they focused on being their best and helping their employees and your organization be the best?

Leadership is the most important, but the least understood skill of all. There is a very big difference between being a manager or supervisor and being a leader. We have years of experience teaching managers and supervisors how to become leaders. We teach them how to achieve maximum organizational results and get extraordinary performance out of their employees.

This highly interactive workshop is an excellent method for implementing positive organizational change. It is also a great refresher for refocusing your leaders on building pride, teamwork and excellence in your organization.

This intensive three-day workshop is designed to have an immediate positive impact on the leadership behaviors of managers and supervisors. The objective of the course is to raise the level of professionalism of supervisors and managers in your organization, with specific emphasis on leadership and interpersonal skills. The training is conducted in your area for your supervisors and managers at a very reasonable cost.

This course is taught by IRI's seasoned trainers. Our trainers have a minimum of twenty years of real-world experience in training of managers and supervisors. We can show you how to achieve excellent results by getting extraordinary performance from your employees.
